The organising committee are pleased to accept presentation abstracts through the submission portal (link below). The call for abstracts will close on the 31st October 2017. There are a number of different formats to accommodate a range of different styles and talks. These include:

- Oral Presentations (12 min oral presentations + 8 min question time).
Standard format oral presentations given during plenary sessions. Emphasis on disseminating results from restoration projects, new research, industry collaborations, etc.;

- Speed Talks (5 min speed talk + 5 min question time) Shorter format oral presentations during plenary sessions with emphasis on project and/or research updates, upcoming projects, new ideas, etc.;
- Technical Talks (12 min 'how to' technical talks + 8 min question time). This format is designed to be more interactive and will allow the speaker an opportunity to present a method or process that supports shellfish restoration (e.g. shoot a video in the field on your mobile phone, design a shell recycling program, engage community groups in monitoring);
- Poster Presentations (A1 sized poster). Standard posters will be displayed throughout the duration of the conference. Note, presenters should be prepared to give a 2 min 'marketing talk' in the plenary sessions on why delegates should visit your poster;
- Videos (5 mins max, to be played during break times). If you would like to show a video of your work or project, monitors showing these videos will be displayed at meal times and if time allows, these may also be shown during the plenary sessions.

The Conference

This three day conference will provide a forum that fosters partnerships, initiatives and exchanges of information necessary to further the science and practice of shellfish restoration efforts around the world. Attendees include representatives from the shellfish aquaculture industry, government, academia, NGO, community groups, practitioners and other restoration supporters.

The conference will feature invited speakers, panel sessions, contributed oral and poster sessions and interactive workshops. The venue will be the historic University of Adelaide campus located in the heart of the City of Adelaide. The schedule will allow for social interactions and collaborations in a relaxed atmosphere. The City of Adelaide is known for its historical churches, bustling market place and fresh seafood and is a stones through away from world class wine regions such as the Barossa, Claire Valley and Adelaide Hills. It should be a fun week as the Adelaide Fringe Festival is on at the same time, so book your accommodation early!
